CSTA represents science educators statewide—in every science discipline at every grade level, Kindergarten through University.

CSTA publishes:

- ◇ California Classroom Science, our monthly newspaper packed with news, information, resources, ideas, and activities of interest to science educators
- ◇ California Journal of Science Education, our semi-annual scholarly journal designed to stimulate thought and dialogue about science issues
- ◇ Making Connections and Making Integrations, books that assist teachers in making sense of and effectively teaching the state science standards

CSTA sponsors:

- ◇ the California Science Education Conference, the largest state conference designed specifically for science educators statewide
- ◇ awards programs that recognize excellence by both students and teachers
- ◇ grants for members to participate in field experiences, both within the U.S. and globally

CSTA is a proactive voice for K-16 science teachers in the state

Through our leadership and staff, we are present at State Board of Education and Curriculum Commission meetings and at Legislative hearings, to promote the needs of our members and of science education.
