California Science Educators Commend STEM Investments in May Revision

The California Association of Science Educators today issued the following statement in reaction to the May Budget Revision proposed by Governor Gavin Newsom:

“We applaud Governor Newsom for proposing key STEM educator investments of $85 million in educator resources and professional learning and $300 million to augment the Educator Effectiveness Block Grant,” said Peter A’Hearn, president of California Association of Science Educators. These funds will support effective science instruction aligned to the Next Generation Science Standards, as well as implementation of the California Math Framework, the Computer Science Standards and the California Preschool Learning Foundations. This wise investment will help California students gain proficiency in critical subjects and will lead to many more young people exploring and preparing for STEM careers.”
